Serpolay-Besson, ITAB The aim of the workshop is to discuss the building blocks (methods, tools and process) needed for effective multi-actor research. Participants will work together in small groups to answer the question “how to improve multi-actor approach?” This will be done based on the experiences of partners in WP 2-5. The generated information can be used in WP2 -5, and it will be used to further develop a toolkit (T1.2) and framework (T1.3) for multi-actor research.

Thursday, 23rd February 2017 (Plenary sessions will take place in meeting room “Multimediale”)

09:00 90 mins	Parallel workshops: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• “Modelling and seed organization” (Meeting Room “Multimediale”) Moderators: I. Goldringer, INRA; A. Miramon, INRA; M. Thomas, CIRAD The software CropMetaPop will be presented and ideas of relevant seed circulation networks and scenarios of evolution will be co-designed with interested partners in a participatory approach. After further consolidation, these scenarios will be numerically assessed with the simulation model at INRA.• “De-fragmenting and boosting field trials via ‘smart’ protocols” (Meeting Room “Biblioteca”) Moderator: A. Costanzo, ORC; M. Carrascosa, RAS; E. Serpolay, ITAB. Imagine you are running a field trial and you just have three days to both assess the crops/varieties and to bring people together: (A) one day will deal with the vegetative growth of the crop, how it establishes and deals with the environment; (B) one day at the reproductive stage, mainly focused on the productive performance of the crop; (C) one day post-harvest, mainly dealing with product quality. It will be a planning game to organize these three “days” making the most of them in terms of participation and data, based on partners’ inputs collected so far. Its aim is to draft methodological guidelines for “participatory crop evaluation”.
10:30	Coffee Break

11:00

Parallel workshops:

- “Training on statistical methods” (Meeting Room “Biblioteca” and “Sala Riunioni”)

Moderators: S. Ceccarelli, RSR; I. Goldringer, INRA; P. Mendes Moreira, IPC; P. Rivière, RSP

Four groups of methods specifically suited for on farm decentralized breeding have been identified in Task3.2: (i) Bayesian approaches based on hierarchical models (ii) spatial and incomplete block designs (iii) multivariate and clustering approaches based on molecular and quality data (iv) non-parametric methods based on multiple regression and decision trees. Based on interactions with partners beforehand, datasets that correspond to one or several methods will be identified. During the workshop, using the "user-friendly" tools developed, some of the methods will be tested with interested partners on a few datasets.

- “Inventory of underutilized resources” (Meeting Room “Multimediale”)

Moderators: A. Costanzo, ORC; M. Keskitalo, LUKE; P. De La Grandeville, INRA; E. Serpolay, ITAB; V. Chable, INRA.

The aim of the workshop is to agree and finalise a working definition and classification of “underutilized crops”. We will work in groups based on three distinct yet overlapping categories: (A) the novel species; (B) the old, forgotten species; (C) neglected germplasm of common species. Each group will highlight the key points in terms of (1) genetic resources and breeding, (2) agro-environmental benefits, (3) adapting growing techniques, (4) processing and uses. Outcomes will be published as a Factsheet and provide the framework for the “inventory of underutilized crops”.
